

Take a Peep Look into Comedians Celebrity Net Worth

Every one of us loves to giggle and laugh anytime. In this relate, there are numerous comedians who are just not only funniest people, but richest as well. If you wish to know more about these celebrities, then online portals are the best place to look at.

Here is the list of richest comedians with shocking celebrity net worth:

- David Letterman – net worth $500 million

David is a host of talk show, whose net worth is estimated to be approximately $500 million. On the other hand, his annual income is about $50 million. Majority of his income comes from hosting shows and playing comedian roles. He owns 108 acres of estate in Westchester, New York and many such attractive properties all across the world.

- Matt Stone – net worth $300 million

Matt Stone is a well known American writer, producer, co-creator of South Park, and screen writer owns a net worth of approximately $300 million. And the most important thing is he gained name and fame from his low budget film “Cannibal”! The Musical. One if his show” South Park” has been airing for than a decade and it didn’t give any signs of slowing down. Majority of his net worth is usually gathered by merchandising as well as co-direction. He has a luxurious home in Venice, California.

- Trey Parker- net worth $300 million

This great legend and American film maker, voice artist and animator owns an estimated net worth of around $300million. He also made great debut through his animated short films such as “Jesus vs. Santa” and “Jesus vs. Frosty”. Majority of his net work comes from his comedy roles. Almost all his shows become pretty much popular in Hollywood and yet running strong even now.

- Drew carey – net worth $165 million

Drew is a well renowned actor, writer, host and a great comedian was innate in Ohio. His overall net worth is approximated about $165 million. All the credits of his net worth owes to his impressive comedy. He also fined good expressions in photography as well. Drew is well known for his active participation in public libraries. He donated his precious money and time for proper and regular operations of libraries in America.

- Terry Factor – net worth $115 million

Terry started his career as a singer. Before he decided to give up his dream, he turned towards “America’s Got Talent “and this show helped him to gain great name and fame. Visit this site:

<http://personbio.org/>